2006

Instructions to Candidates

This paper requires you to listen to a selection of recorded material and answer the accompanying questions.

Each part of the test will be heard twice. There will be a pause before each part to allow you to look through the questions, and other pauses to let you think about your answers.

When you hear the tone you should write your answers on the question paper.

Write clearly in the numbered spaces. You must ask any questions now, as you will not be allowed to speak during the test.

Part Two (30 marks)

Listen to the passage and write in the words that are missing in the space given.

Mars is one of the first things people look at when they get their _____(1) telescope, and it can remain a favourite observation target for as long as they own the telescope. Mars is the _____(2) planet where the average amateur astronomer can actually see the _____(3) change. Using a moderately sized telescope in good viewing conditions you can actually see the polar _____(4) caps on Mars get bigger and smaller as the planet goes through _____(5) and winter.

When early astronomers _____(6) looking at Mars, they could see the dark areas on the surface of the planet _____(7) and then shrinking and at first it was thought that these dark areas were vegetation that _____(8) during the Martian summer and then died off during the winter much as some plant life _____(9) here on Earth. Also, they saw dark lines on the surface of the planet that some observers thought were canals _____(10) by intelligent life forms on the planet. Sadly, they were wrong.
